Answer: D

NEW QUESTION: 2

Your network contains an Active Directory domain named contoso.com. All servers run Windows Server 2012.

The domain contains an organizational unit (OU) named FileServers_OU. FileServers_OU contains the computer accounts for all of the file servers in the domain. You need to audit the users who successfully access shares on the file servers.

Which audit category should you configure? To answer, select the appropriate category in the answer area.

Hot Area:

Answer:

Explanation:

Explanation:

Notes:

To audit object accesses, enable auditing of the object access event category by following the steps above.

Then, enable auditing on the specific object. For information about how to enable auditing on an object, see

"Apply or modify auditing policy settings for a local file or folder" or "Apply or modify auditing policy settings for an object using Group Policy" in Related Topics.

After your audit policy is configured, events will be recorded in the security log. Open the security log to view these events. For information about the security log, see "Use the security log" in Related Topics.

The default auditing policy setting for domain controllers is No Auditing. This means that even if auditing is enabled in the domain, the domain controllers do not inherit auditing policy locally. If you want domain auditing policy to apply to domain controllers, you must modify this policy setting.
