NEW QUESTION: 1

Note: This question is part of a series of questions that present the same scenario. Each question in the series contains a unique solution. Determine whether the solution meets the stated goals.

You have a database named DB1 that includes a table named sales.orders. You grant a user named User1 select permissions on the Sales schema.

You need to ensure that User1 can select data from the sales.orders table without specifying the schema name in any Transact-SQL statements.

Solution: You set the default database for User1 to DB1. Does the solution meet the goal?

- A. No
- B. Yes

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION: 2

An organization has an on-premises server that runs Windows Server 2003. The server hosts an IIS-based stateless web application that uses forms authentication. The application consists of classic Active Server Pages (ASP) pages and third-party components (DLLs) that are registered in the Windows registry.

The deployment process for the web application is manual and is prone to errors. The deployment process makes it difficult to roll out updates, scale out, and recover after failures.

You need to design a modernization approach for the web application that meets the following requirements:

- * Improve the deployment process.
- * Ensure that the application can run in the cloud.
- * Minimize changes to application code.
- * Minimize administrative effort required to implement the modernization solution.

What should you recommend? To answer, drag the appropriate actions to the correct approaches. Each action may be used once, more than once, or not at all. You may need to drag the split bar between panes or scroll to view content.
