Overview

General Overview

You are a film studies teacher at a secondary school. You are part of a team of three teachers that teaches drama, music, and film.

Description of Students

Twenty-five of your students will participate in a project. The students are all in the same class and are 13 and 14 years old.

Learning and Teaching Environment

The school has a computer lab that contains the following ICT resources:

One television

One DVD player

One data projector

One interactive whiteboard

One high-quality sound system

Six low-cost digital video cameras

One professional grade, high-definition video camera

15 powerful computers that are connected to the Internet

Professional grade film editing and music production software

The teachers also have access to desktop computers located in the faculty lounge and the administration offices.

Learning Activities

The school plans to introduce a more collaborative approach between teachers of different subjects.

The team identifies an opportunity to create a collaborative learning activity for the students of drama, music and film. The team plans to complete the collaborative project in four weeks.

Currently, the students study each of the three subjects for one hour per week.

The school will pay a local filmmaker to visit the students for a one hour lesson early in the project. The filmmaker will answer the students' questions and demonstrate how to use film-editing software.

The filmmaker will also be available during each project lesson via video-conference link, telephone, and email.

Objectives

Learning Objectives

You identify the following learning objectives:

Improve the students' ability to work collaboratively within a creative framework.

Create a 60-second film trailer that combines live action film, voice-over narration, and original music.

Professional Development Objectives

The professional development objectives for the team are to: use ICT effectively for teaching and learning;

incorporate appropriate ICT activities into lesson plans so that students work collaboratively within a creative framework; and integrate the use of ICT into the curriculum.

Pedagogical objectives

The school plans to increase the use of cross-curricular approaches to help the students understand learning as a connected experience rather than a set of separate disciplines.

NEW QUESTION: 3

Sie entwerfen ein Auftragserfassungssystem, das eine SQL Server-Datenbank verwendet. Die Datenbank enthält die folgenden Tabellen:

Sie müssen sicherstellen, dass Bestellungen nur für Kunden mit einem Kontostand von Null zur Tabelle Bestellungen hinzugefügt werden.

Wie müssen Sie die entsprechende Transact-SQL-Anweisung ausfüllen? Wählen Sie zum Beantworten die richtige Transact-SQL-Anweisung aus jeder Liste im Antwortbereich aus.

Answer:

Explanation:

Erläuterung

Der Transact SQL-Befehl CREATE TRIGGER erstellt einen DML-, DDL- oder Anmeldetrigger. Ein Trigger ist eine spezielle gespeicherte Prozedur, die beim Auftreten eines Ereignisses auf dem Datenbankserver automatisch ausgeführt wird. DML-Trigger werden ausgeführt, wenn ein Benutzer versucht, Daten über ein DML-Ereignis (Data Manipulation Language) zu ändern. DML-Ereignisse sind INSERT-, UPDATE- oder DELETE-Anweisungen für eine Tabelle oder Sicht. Diese Trigger werden ausgelöst, wenn ein gegebenes Ereignis ausgelöst wird, unabhängig davon, ob Tabellenzeilen betroffen sind oder nicht.

Die Teilsyntax lautet:

CREATE TRIGGER [schemaname. ] Triggername
ON {table | Aussicht }
[WITH &lt;dml_trigger_option&gt; [, ... n]]
{FOR | NACH | ANSTATT }
{[INSERT] [,] [UPDATE] [,] [DELETE]}
