NEW QUESTION: 1

Which of the following is a network interconnectivity device that translates different communication protocols and is used to connect dissimilar network technologies?

- A. Switch
- B. Router
- C. Bridge
- D. Gateway

Answer: D

Explanation:

A gateway is a network interconnectivity device that translates different communication protocols and is used to connect dissimilar network technologies. It provides greater functionality than a router or bridge because a gateway functions both as a translator and a router. Gateways are slower than bridges and routers. A gateway is an application layer device. Answer option B is incorrect. A router is an electronic device that interconnects two or more computer networks. It selectively interchanges packets of data between them. It is a networking device whose software and hardware are customized to the tasks of routing and forwarding information. It helps in forwarding data packets between networks. Answer option C is incorrect. A bridge is an interconnectivity device that connects two local area networks (LANs) or two segments of the same LAN using the same communication protocols, and provides address filtering between them. Users can use this device to divide busy networks into segments and reduce network traffic. A bridge broadcasts data packets to all the possible destinations within a specific segment. Bridges operate at the data-link layer of the OSI model. Answer option D is incorrect. A switch is a network device that selects a path or circuit for sending a data unit to its next destination. It is not required in smaller networks, but is required in large inter-networks, where there can be many possible ways of transmitting a message from a sender to destination. The function of switch is to select the best possible path. On an Ethernet local area network (LAN), a switch determines from the physical device (Media Access Control or MAC) address in each incoming message frame which output port to forward it to and out of. In a wide area packet-switched network, such as the Internet, a switch determines from the IP address in each packet which output port to use for the next part of its trip to the intended destination.

NEW QUESTION: 2

An administrator configured a provisioning group to automatically enable mailboxes. Which setting should the administrator check to ensure that users in this group are enabled automatically?

- A. The Provisioning Group should be set at the top of the list.
- B. Auto-enabling mailboxes should be set using EVPM scripts.
- C. The retention category is set.
- D. The default Vault Store is set.

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION: 3

Which of the following statements relating to the Bell-LaPadula security model is FALSE (assuming the Strong Star property is not being used) ?

- A. The property restriction can be escaped by temporarily downgrading a high level subject.
- B. A subject is not allowed to read up.
- C. A subject is not allowed to read down.
- D. It is restricted to confidentiality.

Answer: C

Explanation:

It is not a property of Bell LaPadula model.

The other answers are incorrect because:

A subject is not allowed to read up is a property of the 'simple security rule' of Bell LaPadula model.

The property restriction can be escaped by temporarily downgrading a high level subject can be escaped by temporarily downgrading a high level subject or by identifying a set of trusted objects which are permitted to violate the property as long as it is not in the middle of an operation.

It is restricted to confidentiality as it is a state machine model that enforces the confidentiality aspects of access control. Reference: Shon Harris AIO v3 , Chapter-5 : Security Models and Architecture , Page:279282

NEW QUESTION: 4

You have a server that runs Windows Server 2012 R2. You need to create a volume that will remain online if two disks in the volume fail.

The solution must minimize the number of disks used to create the volume.

Which three actions should you perform in sequence?

- A. Create a storage space and set the disk allocation of one of the disks to "Hot Spare"
- B. Create a virtual disk
- C. Add three physical disks
- D. Add five physical disks
- E. Create a storage space by using the default disk allocation

Answer: B,D,E

Explanation:

A storage space with three-way mirroring can tolerate two disk failures but requires a minimum of five disks.
