NEW QUESTION: 1

Which two types of access lists can be used for sequencing?
(Choose two.)

- A. dynamic
- B. extended
- C. reflexive
- D. standard

Answer: B,D

Explanation:

Users can apply sequence numbers to permit or deny statements and also reorder, add, or remove such statements from a named IP access list. This feature makes revising IP access lists much easier. Prior to this feature, users could add access list entries to the end of an access list only; therefore needing to add statements anywhere except the end required reconfiguring the access list entirely. Restrictions for IP Access List Entry Sequence Numbering

This feature does not support dynamic, reflexive, or firewall access lists.

This feature does not support old-style numbered access lists, which existed before named access lists. Keep in mind that you can name an access list with a number, so numbers are allowed when they are entered in the standard or extended named access list (NACL) configuration mode.
