NEW QUESTION: 2

Tie-in sales e.g., the sale of camera and film together) most likely are legal if:

- A. The tying product is patented.
- B. The tie-in is necessary to assure product quality.
- C. Used by all entities in an industry.
- D. Used to facilitate price discrimination.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Tie-in sales involve a seller's requirement that the buyer purchase another distinct product to obtain the first. They are usually prohibited under antitrust law unless a small entity is attempting to enter a market or the tie-in is needed to protect the entity's goodwill e.g., by maintaining a certain quality standard). Tie-in sales requirements are usually illegal if the seller has enough market power to restrict competition.
