NEW QUESTION: 1

It is important to develop an information security baseline because it helps to define:

- A. critical information resources needing protection.
- B. required physical and logical access controls.
- C. the minimum acceptable security to be implemented.
- D. a security policy for the entire organization.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Developing an information security baseline helps to define the minimum acceptable security that will be implemented to protect the information resources in accordance with the respective criticality levels. Before determining the security baseline, an information security manager must establish the security policy, identify criticality levels of organization's information resources and assess the risk environment in which those resources operate.

NEW QUESTION: 2

You are designing a microservices architecture that will be hosted in an Azure Kubernetes Service (AKS) cluster. Apps that will consume the microservices will be hosted on Azure virtual machines. The virtual machines and the AKS cluster will reside on the same virtual network.

You need to design a solution to expose the microservices to the consumer apps. The solution must meet the following requirements:

- * Ingress access to the microservices must be restricted to a single private IP address and protected by using mutual TLS authentication.

- * The number of incoming microservice calls must be rate-limited.

- * Costs must be minimized.

What should you include in the solution?

A. Azure API Management Premium tier with virtual network connection

B. Azure App Gateway with Azure Web Application Firewall (WAF)

C. Azure Front Door with Azure Web Application Firewall (WAF)

D. Azure API Management Standard tier with a service endpoint

Answer: B
