NEW QUESTION: 1

A company has developers located in Eastern Europe (EE) and a QA Department in Bermuda.

* The company is planning to create an environment based on a blueprint of 4-8 virtual machines for each of the developers and one for every QA project.

* The proposed configuration will allow each developer to work independently and be able to collapse and re-create the environment as needed.

* QA Teams will be able to recreate the environment that is required for a specific application.

* Individual virtual machines in the blueprint are being continually updated with newly available software packages.

* The company is planning to use the vSphere Content Library to store images and synchronize them between sites.

Which four supported configurations can the company implement? (Choose four.)

- A. EE and Bermuda vCenter Servers with Enhanced Linked Mode.
- B. EE and Bermuda libraries that are backed by an NFS file system.
- C. A minimum 10 GbE connection between EE published and Bermuda subscribed libraries is required.
- D. EE and Bermuda vCenter Servers without Enhanced Linked Mode.
- E. Published library in EE backed by an NFS file system while subscribed library in Bermuda is backed up by datastore.
- F. FTP protocol to transfer data between published in EE and subscribed in Bermuda libraries.

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION: 3

Mike, a user, states that he is receiving several unwanted emails about home loans. Which of the following is this an example of?

A. Spam

B. Spoofing

C. Spear phishing

D. Hoaxes

Answer: A

Explanation:

Spam is most often considered to be electronic junk mail or junk newsgroup postings.

Some people define spam even more generally as any unsolicited email. However, if a long-lost brother finds your email address and sends you a message, this could hardly be called spam, even though it is unsolicited. Real spam is generally email advertising for some product sent to a mailing list or newsgroup.

In addition to wasting people's time with unwanted e-mail, spam also eats up a lot of network bandwidth. Consequently, there are many organizations, as well as individuals, who have taken it upon themselves to fight spam with a variety of techniques. But because the Internet is public, there is really little that can be done to prevent spam, just as it is impossible to prevent junk mail. However, some online services have instituted policies to prevent spammers from spamming their subscribers.

There is some debate about why it is called spam, but the generally accepted version is that it comes from the Monty Python song, "Spam spam spam spam, spam spam spam spam, lovely spam, wonderful spam". Like the song, spam is an endless repetition of worthless text. Another school of thought maintains that it comes from the computer group lab at the University of Southern California who gave it the name because it has many of the same characteristics as the lunch meat Spam: Nobody wants it or ever asks for it.

No one ever eats it; it is the first item to be pushed to the side when eating the entree.

Sometimes it is actually tasty, like 1% of junk mail that is really useful to some people.

The term spam can also be used to describe any "unwanted" email from a company or website -- typically at some point a user would have agreed to receive the email via subscription list opt-in -- a newer term called graymail is used to describe this particular type of spam.

NEW QUESTION: 4
