NEW QUESTION: 1

You need to recommend a solution for the remote access servers. What should you include in the recommendation?

- A. Network address translation (NAT)
- B. Logging levels
- C. Packet filtering

D. Packet tracing

Answer: C

Explanation:

Scenario: The remote access servers must be able to restrict outgoing traffic based on IP addresses.

Packet filtering can be used to restrict outgoing traffic with the help of an output filter.

Note: Packet filtering consists of creating a series of definitions called filters, which define for the router what types of traffic are allowed or disallowed on each interface. Filters can be set for incoming and outgoing traffic.

* Input filters define what inbound traffic on that interface the router is allowed to route or process.

* Output filters define what traffic the router is allowed to send from that interface.

Incorrect:

Not A: NAT is not able to restrict outgoing traffic. NAT supports static filters can be added to the private interface to protect against threats from internal clients.
