Answer: D

NEW QUESTION: 2

Note: This question is part of a series of questions that present the same scenario. Each question in the series contains a unique solution that might meet the stated goals. Some question sets might have more than one correct solution, while others might not have a correct solution.

After you answer a question in this question, you will NOT be able to return to it. As a result, these questions will not appear in the review screen.

You are developing a website that will run as an Azure Web App. Users will authenticate by using their Azure Active Directory (Azure AD) credentials.

You plan to assign users one of the following permission levels for the website: admin, normal, and reader. A user's Azure AD group membership must be used to determine the permission level. You need to configure authorization.

Solution:

- * Create a new Azure AD application's manifest, set value of the groupMembershipClaims option to All.

- * In the website, use the value of the groups claim from the JWT for the user to determine permissions.

Does the solution meet the goal?

A. Yes

B. No

Answer: A

Explanation:

To configure Manifest to include Group Claims in Auth Token

1. Go to Azure Active Directory to configure the Manifest.

Click on Azure Active Directory, and go to App registrations to find your application:

2. Click on your application (or search for it if you have a lot of apps) and edit the Manifest by clicking on it.

3. Locate the "groupMembershipClaims" setting. Set its value to either "SecurityGroup" or "All". To help you decide which:

"SecurityGroup" - groups claim will contain the identifiers of all security groups of which the user is a member.

"All" - groups claim will contain the identifiers of all security groups and all distribution lists of which the user is a member Now your application will include group claims in your manifest and you can use this fact in your code.
