NEW QUESTION: 1
Given:
```
public class Circle {
double radius;
public double area:
public Circle (double r) { radius = r;}
public double getRadius() {return radius;}
public void setRadius(double r) { radius = r;}
public double getArea() { return /* ??? */;}
}
class App {
public static void main(String[] args) {
Circle c1 = new Circle(17.4);
c1.area = Math.PI * c1.getRadius() * c1.getRadius();
}
}
```

This class is poorly encapsulated. You need to change the circle class to compute and return the area instead.
What three modifications are necessary to ensure that the class is being properly encapsulated?
A. When the radius is set in the Circle constructor and the setRadius () method, recomputed the area and store it into the area field
B. Change the getRadius () method:
public double getRadius () {
area = Math.PI * radius * radius;
return radius;
}
C. Change the access modifier of the setradius () method to private
D. Change the getArea () method public double getArea () { return area; }
Answer: A,C,D Explanation:
A: There is no need to have SetRadius as public as the radius can be set through the Circle method.
B: We need to return the area in the GetArea method.
C: When the radius changes the Area must change as well.
