NEW QUESTION: 3

You administer a Microsoft SQL Server instance that will support several databases.

You need to ensure that the organization serial numbers can be stored in every new database created. You also need to ensure that the serial numbers are six alphanumeric characters and have the same structure across every database.

What should you do?

A. Create a user-defined data type on the model database.

B. Create a user-defined data type on the master database.

C. Create a user-defined type on the model database.

D. Create a user-defined type on the master database.

Answer: C

Explanation:

A user defined data type in SQL Server is only accessible in a single database, but one trick with new databases is to create the objects in the model database, so as new databases are created the user defined data types, rules, defaults, etc. will automatically be available.
