NEW QUESTION: 1

You have imported a new calculation view in a folder that contains a .hdinamespace file. This calculation view consumes one data source which is a table. When trying to build the calculation view, there is a namespace-related issue and the build fails.

What could be the reason? Note: There are 2 correct answers.

- A. The .hdinamespace file specifies a different namespace property than the one in the identifier of the calculation view.
- B. The namespace used within the calculation view to reference the table is different from the actual namespace in the identifier of this table.
- C. The .hdinamespace specifies "sub-folder":, ,append"/ so calculation views can only be created in sub-folders.
- D. The imported calculation view and its data source have different namespaces.
