NEW QUESTION: 1

Your organization is considered a leader in knowledge management and has a Chief Knowledge Officer reporting to the CEO. It also implemented portfolio management eight years ago. As the organization focuses on continuous improvement and transformational leadership, it had an external consultant review its portfolio artifacts and do some benchmarking. One of the consultant's recommendations was to update the portfolio risk management plan since the company is embracing new and complex technology in much of its work. In updating this plan, it was useful to:

- A. Prioritize how risks are identified and listed in the risk register
- B. Determine relevant confidence limits of risk metrics
- C. Review lessons learned
- D. Determine the time in which risks are likely to have the
