NEW QUESTION: 3

You deploy your company's Internet Web site.

You need to deny anonymous access to the Web site, allowing only authenticated users.

Which code segment should you use?

- A. `<authorization> <deny users="?"/>
</authorization>`
- B. `<authorization> <allow users="*" />
</authorization>`
- C. `<authorization> <deny users="*" />
</authorization>`
- D. `<authorization> <allow users="?" />
</authorization>`

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION: 4

Your network contains an Active Directory domain named contoso.com. The domain contains a read-only domain controller (RODC) named RODC1.

You create a global group named RODC_Admins.

You need to provide the members of RODC_Admins with the ability to manage the hardware and the software on RODC1. The solution must not provide RODC_Admins with the ability to manage Active Directory objects.

What should you do?

- A. From Active Directory Users and Computers, run the Delegation of Control Wizard.
- B. From Active Directory Site and Services, configure the Security settings of the RODC1 server object.
- C. From a command prompt, run the dsadd computer command.
- D. From Active Directory Users and Computers, configure the Managed By settings of the RODC1 account.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Modify the Managed By tab of the RODC account properties in the Active Directory Users and Computers snap-in, as shown in the following figure. You can click Change to change which security principal is the delegated RODC administrator. You can choose only one security principal. Specify a security group rather than an individual user so you can control RODC administration permissions most efficiently. This method changes the managedBy attribute of the computer object that corresponds to the RODC to the SID of the security principal that you specify. This is the recommended way to specify the delegated RODC administrator account because the information is stored in AD DS, where it can be centrally managed by domain administrators.

Managed By tab on an RODC Properties sheet

Incorrect:

Not A: You delegate administration of a domain or organizational unit by using the Delegation of Control wizard available in the Active Directory Users and Computers snap-in.

Not B: dsadd group just adds a group to the Active Directory
