What are the five key principles of security in Oracle Fusion Applications?

- A. Containment
- B. Assured Revocation
- C. Transparency
- D. Easier Lifecycle management
- E. Segregation of Duties
- F. Revamping
- G. Least Privileges

Answer: A,B,C,E,G

Explanation:

Oracle Fusion Applications applies the following standard security principles:

- *Least privilege
- *Segregation of duties

*Containment and no write down

*Transparency

*Assured revocation

*Defense in depth

Note A: In any consolidation environment, a security implementation should use the "least privileges" approach to harden the environment.

Note B: Segregation of duties (SOD) separates activities such as approving, recording, processing, and reconciling results so an enterprise can more easily prevent or detect unintentional errors and willful fraud.

SOD policies constrain duties across roles so unethical, illegal, or damaging activities are less likely. SOD policies express constraints between role pairs.

Oracle Fusion role definitions respect segregation of duties policies. Oracle Fusion Applications is certified to integrate with Application Access Controls Governor (AACG) in the Oracle Governance, Risk and Compliance Controls (GRCC) suite to ensure effective SOD.
