NEW QUESTION: 1

Which security model ensures that actions that take place at a higher security level do not affect actions that take place at a lower level?

- A. The information flow model
- B. The Bell-LaPadula model
- C. The noninterference model
- D. The Clark-Wilson model

Answer: C

Explanation:

The goal of a noninterference model is to strictly separate differing security levels to assure that higher-level actions do not determine what lower-level users can see.

This is in contrast to other security models that control information flows between differing levels of users, By maintaining strict separation of security levels, a noninterference model minimizes leakages that might happen through a covert channel.

The model ensures that any actions that take place at a higher security level do not affect, or interfere with, actions that take place at a lower level.

It is not concerned with the flow of data, but rather with what a subject knows about the state of the system. So if an entity at a higher security level performs an action, it can not change the state for the entity at the lower level.

The model also addresses the inference attack that occurs when some one has access to some type of information and can infer(guess) something that he does not have the clearance level or authority to know.

The following are incorrect answers:

The Bell-LaPadula model is incorrect. The Bell-LaPadula model is concerned only with confidentiality and bases access control decisions on the classification of objects and the clearances of subjects.

The information flow model is incorrect. The information flow models have a similar framework to the Bell-LaPadula model and control how information may flow between objects based on security classes. Information will be allowed to flow only in accordance with the security policy.

The Clark-Wilson model is incorrect. The Clark-Wilson model is concerned with change control and assuring that all modifications to objects preserve integrity by means of well-formed transactions and usage of an access triple (subject - interface - object).

NEW QUESTION: 2

A customer created one month of snapshots; one snapshot every 8 hours for 30 days on an Isilon cluster using SnapshotIQ. They are now deleting the snapshots randomly and experiencing overhead to the cluster.

How can the snapshots be removed while avoiding the overhead caused by this process?

- A. Snapshots cannot be deleted
- B. Delete the snapshots in order
- C. Remove the directory
- D. Use SmartPools to move the snapshot data to a different tier

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION: 3

An AWS root account owner is trying to create a policy to access RDS. Which of the below mentioned statements is true with respect to the above information?

- A. Create a policy which allows the users to access RDS and apply it to the RDS instances
- B. The policy should be created for the user and provide access for RDS
- C. The root account owner should create a policy for the IAM user and give him access to the RDS services
- D. The user cannot access the RDS database if he is not assigned the correct IAM policy

Answer: C

Explanation:

Explanation

AWS Identity and Access Management is a web service which allows organizations to manage users and user permissions for various AWS services. If the account owner wants to create a policy for RDS, the owner has to create an IAM user and define the policy which entitles the IAM user with various RDS services such as Launch Instance, Manage security group, Manage parameter group etc.
