NEW QUESTION: 2

What is project management?

- A. A logical grouping of project management inputs, outputs, tools, and techniques
- B. Launching a process that can result in the authorization of a new project
- C. Applying knowledge, skills, tools, and techniques to project activities to meet the project requirements
- D. A formal, approved document that defines how the project is executed, monitored, and controlled

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION: 3

A corporate environment includes an on-premise deployment of Exchange Server 2010 SP1. The environment is configured as shown in the following table.

The company plans to move the European employee email accounts to a cloud-based Exchange Server 2010 SP1 service provider. You have the following requirements:

- Route incoming messages to the appropriate Exchange Server environment.
- Ensure that all employees retain their current email addresses.
- Ensure that MX records do not change.

You need to recommend a solution for meeting the requirements. What should you recommend?

- A. Configure an external relay domain for wingtiptoys.com. Configure send connectors for the on premise and cloud-based servers.
- B. Configure address rewriting. Configure send connectors for the on-premise Hub Transport server and the cloud-based servers.
- C. Configure address rewriting. Configure send connectors for the on-premise Edge Transport server and the cloud-based servers.
- D. Configure an external relay domain for tailspintoys.com. Configure send connectors for the on premise and cloud-based servers.

Answer: D

Explanation:

External Relay Domains

Following that logic then, it makes sense that an external relay domain involves external message routing. For example, take the scenario where the MX records for fabrikam.com are configured to point to the Edge Transport servers within the neilhobson.com Exchange organization. If these Edge Transport servers are configured with an external relay domain for fabrikam.com, messages destined for the fabrikam.com SMTP namespace are accepted by the Edge Transport servers in the neilhobson.com Exchange organization, but are then relayed via a Send connector configured on the Edge Transport servers to the Edge Transport servers responsible for the fabrikam.com Exchange organization. In other words, the message routing happens externally at the Edge Transport server level rather than at the Hub Transport server level as we saw with internal relay domains.
