NEW QUESTION: 2

A startup company hired you to help them build a mobile application, that will ultimately store billions of images and videos in S3. The company is lean on funding, and wants to minimize operational costs, however, they have an aggressive marketing plan, and expect to double their current installation base every six months. Due to the nature of their business, they are expecting sudden and large increases in traffic to and from S3, and need to ensure that it can handle the performance needs of their application.

What other information must you gather from this customer in order to determine whether S3 is the right option?

- A. You must know the size of the individual objects being written to S3, in order to properly design the key namespace.
- B. You must know how many customers the company has today, because this is critical in understanding what their customer base will be in two years.
- C. You must find out the total number of requests per second at peak usage.
- D. In order to build the key namespace correctly, you must understand the total amount of storage needs for each S3 bucket.

NEW QUESTION: 3

Your network contains two servers named Server 1 and Server 2. Both servers run Windows

Server 2012 R2 and have the DNS Server server role installed. On Server1, you create a standard primary zone named contoso.com.

You plan to create a standard primary zone for ad.contoso.com on Server2.

You need to ensure that Server1 forwards all queries for ad.contoso.com to Server2.

What should you do from Server1?

- A. Add Server2 as a name server.
- B. Create a zone delegation that points to Server2.
- C. Create a trust anchor named Server2.
- D. Create a conditional forward that points to Server2.

Answer: B

Explanation:

You can divide your Domain Name System (DNS) namespace into one or more zones. You can delegate management of part of your namespace to another location or department in your organization by delegating the management of the corresponding zone. For more information, see Understanding Zone Delegation.
