NEW QUESTION: 4

When setting up Automated Installer (AI) clients, an interactive tool can be used to generate a custom system configuration profile. The profile will specify the time zone, data and time, user and root accounts, and name services used for an AI client installation. This interactive tool will prompt you to enter the client information and an SC profile (XML) will be created.

Which interactive tool can be used to generate this question configuration?

- A. installadm create-profile
- B. installadm set-criteria
- C. sys-unconfig
- D. sysconfig create-profile

Answer: B

Explanation:

Use the `installadm set-criteria` command to update the client criteria associated with an AI manifest that you already added to a service using `installadm add-manifest`.

Use the `installadm add-manifest` command to add a custom AI manifest to an install service.

The value of `manifest` is a full path and file name with `.xml` extension. The manifest file contains an AI manifest (installation instructions). The manifest file can also reference or embed an SC manifest (system configuration instructions).
