Which of the following is a compelling reason to export a sheet in Tableau to a PDF?

- A. If we want a static view of the visualisation.
- B. If we want to use filters in the visualisation.
- C. If we want to interact with the visualisation.
- D. If we want to dynamically enter parameters to the visualisation.

Answer: A

Explanation:
Explanation

Exporting the visualisation gives us a static view of the visualisation.

It is NOT possible to interact with it, use filters, or dynamically enter anything in a visualisation exported PDF. In Tableau Desktop, you can save views as PDF files rather than printing them as hard copies. You do not need to have Adobe Acrobat installed on your computer.

When you print an individual sheet to PDF, filters in the view are not included. To show filters, create a dashboard containing the sheet and export the dashboard to PDF.
