NEW QUESTION: 1

A system administrator decides to use the advice from the Performance and Diagnostic Advisor to identify the optimum connection pool settings for data sources. In a cell, the data source db2datasource is defined under node scope and used by two servers from that node. The administrator receives two different sets of advice for db2datasource. One set of advice suggests to increase the maximum connection pool size for db2datasource.

The other suggests reducing the maximum connection pool size for db2datasource.

How should the administrator configure the data sources before reusing the Performance and Diagnostic Advisor?

- A. Decrease the maximum connection pool size for the data source.
- B. Create a data source of the same name under server scope for each server.
- C. Increase the minimum connection pool size for the data source.
- D. Create a data source of the same name under cell scope.

NEW QUESTION: 2

A project has been mistakenly set up as a capital project, instead of a contract project. The project has already incurred expenditure. How can this be remedied?

- A. Leave the project as capital and accrue for revenue as is.
- B. Move all the costs to an contract task within the capital project.
- C. Delete all the expenditure items and change the project type.
- D. Change the project type to Contract
- E. A new project should be set up and costs transferred.

Answer: E

Explanation:

Note: *Project Type

The project type determines how Oracle Projects processes costs (expenditure items) for a project. The type you choose provides many defaults and controls for project entry and processing. You must choose a type from one of the following project type classes:

/Use an Indirect project type to collect and track expenditure item costs and labor hours for overhead activities, such as administrative and overhead work, marketing, and bid & proposal preparation. You can also define indirect projects to track time off including sick leave, vacation, and holidays

/Use a Capital project type to collect and track costs and labor hours for asset development activities which you plan to capitalize as one or more assets.

/Use a Contract project type to collect and track costs, labor hours, revenue, and billing for services performed for and reimbursed by a client
