Answer:

Explanation:

Explanation:

Step 1: Upload a configuration to Azure Automation State Configuration.

Import the configuration into the Automation account.

Step 2: Compile a configuration into a node configuration.

A DSC configuration defining that state must be compiled into one or more node configurations (MOF document), and placed on the Automation DSC Pull Server.

Step 3: Onboard the virtual machines to Azure Automation State Configuration.

Onboard the Azure VM for management with Azure Automation State Configuration Step 4: Assign the node configuration Step 5:

Check the compliance status of the node Each time Azure Automation State Configuration performs a consistency check on a managed node, the node sends a status report back to the pull server. You can view these reports on the page for that node.

On the blade for an individual report, you can see the following status information for the corresponding consistency check:

The report status - whether the node is "Compliant", the configuration "Failed", or the node is "Not Compliant"

The network administrator receives complaints of slow wireless network performance and performs a sniffer trace of the wireless network in preparation for migration to 802.11n. The sample capture shows frames that contains AP beacons with NonERP_Present bit set to 1 and frames with RTS/CTS.

Which two conclusions can be interpreted from these frames? (Choose two.)

- A. The network is performing slowly because 802.11n clients are already mixed with 802.11g clients.
- B. Possible 802.11b wireless clients are located only in the AP cell radius where the sniffer capture was performed.

- C. Possible 802.11b wireless clients could be located anywhere in the wireless network.
- D. The network is performing slowly because a wireless client is incorrectly configured, which results in RF interference.
- E. The network is performing slowly because 802.11b clients still exist in the network.
