Amazon CloudFront is a content delivery network (CDN) service that accelerates the delivery of static content to end users. It is a fully managed service that integrates with Amazon S3, Amazon EC2, and other AWS services. CloudFront uses a global network of edge locations to cache content and deliver it to users from the location closest to them. This reduces latency and improves the user experience. CloudFront also provides features such as origin shield, cache key prefix filtering, and cache key whitelisting to help you optimize your content delivery. CloudFront is a pay-as-you-go service, so you only pay for the content you deliver and the bandwidth you use. CloudFront is a highly available and scalable service that can handle millions of requests per second. CloudFront is a key component of many AWS architectures and is used by a wide range of applications and services.
