NEW QUESTION: 2

There is a very serious outage at AWS. EC2 is not affected, but your EC2 instance deployment scripts stopped working in the region with the outage. What might be the issue?

- A. The AWS Console is down, so your CLI commands do not work.
- B. S3 is unavailable, so you can't create EBS volumes from a snapshot you use to deploy new volumes.
- C. AWS turns off the DeployCode API call when there are major outages, to protect from system floods.
- D. None of the other answers make sense. If EC2 is not affected, it must be some other issue.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation

The CBS Snapshots are stored in S3, so if you have an scripts which deploy CC2 Instances, the CBS volumes need to be constructed from snapshots stored in S3.

You can back up the data on your Amazon CBS volumes to Amazon S3 by taking point-in-time snapshots.

Snapshots are incremental backups, which means that only the blocks on the device that have changed after your most recent snapshot are saved. This minimizes the time required to create the snapshot and saves on storage costs by not duplicating data. When you delete a snapshot, only the data unique to that snapshot is removed. Each snapshot contains all of the information needed to restore your data (from the moment when the snapshot was taken) to a new CBS volume.
