NEW QUESTION: 2

A client sustained second- and third-degree burns to his face, neck, and upper chest. Which of the following nursing diagnoses would be given the highest priority in the first 8 hours' postburn?

- A. Alteration in comfort secondary to alteration in skin

integrity

B. Alteration in sensation secondary to third-degree burn

C. Alteration in airway integrity secondary to edema of neck and face, which in turn is secondary to alteration in skin integrity

D. Fluid volume deficit secondary to alteration in skin integrity

Answer: C

Explanation:

Explanation

(A) Fluid deficit is a high priority not only during the first 8 hours postburn, but also during the first 36 hours postburn. (B) Alteration in comfort is a high priority during the entire length of the client's hospitalization and on discharge. (C) Alteration in sensation is a high priority during the first 48-72 hours postburn. Lack of sensation may be indicative of lack of circulation. (D) Alteration in airway integrity is the highest priority for this client in the first 8 hours postburn. Failure to continually assess this client's airway status could result in poor ventilation and oxygenation, in addition to an inability to intubate the client secondary to excessive edema formation in the neck.

NEW QUESTION: 3

Given: Mary has just finished troubleshooting an 802.11g network performance problem using a laptop-based WLAN protocol analyzer. The wireless network implements 802.1X/PEAP and the client devices are authenticating properly. When Mary disables the WLAN protocol analyzer, configures her laptop for PEAP authentication, and then tries to connect to the wireless network, she is unsuccessful. Before using the WLAN protocol analyzer, Mary's laptop connected to the network without any problems.

What statement indicates why Mary cannot access the network from her laptop computer?

A. The protocol analyzer's network interface card (NIC) drivers are still loaded and do not support the version of PEAP being used.

B. The PEAP client's certificate was voided when the protocol analysis software assumed control of the wireless adapter.

C. The nearby WIPS sensor categorized Mary's protocol analyzer adapter as a threat and is performing a deauthentication flood against her computer.

D. Mary's supplicant software is using PEAPv0/EAP-MSCHAPv2, and the access point is using PEAPv1/EAP-GTC.

Answer: A
