NEW QUESTION: 2

When you are developing the estimates for project, you choose to add the individual estimates for the activities that comprise each phase. What type of estimation method are you using?

- A. Bottom-up estimating
- B. Analogous estimating
- C. Parametric estimating
- D. Top-down estimating

Answer: A

Explanation:

Bottom-up estimating: Estimating the cost of individual work items and then rolling up the costs to arrive at a project total: It is more accurate. Analogous estimating: Analogous estimating is also called top-down estimating and uses the actual cost of a previous, similar project as the basis for estimating the cost of the current project. Parametric estimating:

Using project characteristics (or parameters) in a mathematical model to predict costs (e.g., price per square meter).
