Which of the following is a valid reason to delete a KMS key?

- A. The key is no longer needed and you want to free up space.
- B. The key is no longer needed and you want to improve security.
- C. The key is no longer needed and you want to reduce costs.
- D. The key is no longer needed and you want to improve performance.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation

Option A is invalid because once you schedule the deletion and waiting period ends, you cannot come back from the deletion process.

Option C and D are invalid because these will not check to see if the keys are being used or not. The AWS Documentation mentions the following: Deleting a customer master key (CMK) in AWS Key Management Service (AWS KMS) is destructive and potentially dangerous. It deletes the key material and all metadata associated with the CMK, and is irreversible. After a CMK is deleted you can no longer decrypt the data that was encrypted under that CMK, which means that data becomes unrecoverable. You should delete a CMK only when you are sure that you don't need to use it anymore. If you are not sure, consider disabling the CMK instead of deleting it. You can re-enable a disabled CMK if you need to use it again later, but you cannot recover a deleted CMK.
