NEW QUESTION: 2

You manage a cloud service that has a web application named WebRole1. WebRole1 writes error messages to the Windows Event Log.

Users report receiving an error page with the following message: "Event 26 has occurred. Contact your system administrator." You need to access the WebRole1 event log. Which three actions should you perform? Each correct answer presents part of the solution.

- A. Enable verbose monitoring.
- B. Create a storage account.
- C. Run the Enable-AzureWebsiteApplicationDiagnostic PowerShell cmdlet.
- D. Run the Set-AzureVM.DiagnosticsExtension PowerShell cmdlet.
- E. Update the cloud service definition file and the service configuration file.
- F. Update the WebRole1 web.config file.

Answer: A,B,E

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

Explanation:

AF: You can monitor key performance metrics for your cloud services in the Azure Management Portal.

You can set the level of monitoring to minimal and verbose for each service role, and can customize the monitoring displays. Verbose monitoring data is stored in a storage account, which you can access outside the portal.

C: The service configuration file specifies the number of role instances to deploy for each role in the service, the values of any configuration settings, and the thumbprints for any certificates associated with a role. If the service is part of a Virtual Network, configuration information for the network must be provided in the service configuration file, as well as in the virtual networking configuration file. The default extension for the service configuration file is .cscfg. The service definition file defines the service model for an application. The file contains the definitions for the roles that are available to a cloud service, specifies the service endpoints, and establishes configuration settings for the service.
