The negative request form of accounts receivable confirmation is useful particularly when the:

- A. Option B
- B. Option C
- C. Option A
- D. Option D

Answer: C

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

Explanation:

Choice "A" is correct. The negative request form of accounts receivable confirmation is useful particularly when: -the assessed level of control risk relating to receivables is low (if control risk is high, then positive confirmation requests would probably be sent), -there are many small balances (which would make it difficult to keep the number of positive confirmations to a reasonably low level), and -consideration of the confirmation by the recipient is likely (since the auditor is relying on the customers' consideration as the sole basis of support for the confirmation). Choices "B", "C", and "D" are incorrect, based on the above Explanation.

- B. the Add-CauClusterRole cmdlet
- C. the Invoke-CauScan cmdlet
- D. the Wusa command

Answer: B

Section: Volume C

Explanation/Reference:

Explanation:

To enable self-updating mode, the CAU clustered role must also be added to the failover cluster. To do this by using the CAU UI, under Cluster Actions, use the Configure Self-Updating Options action. Alternatively, run the Add-CauClusterRole Windows PowerShell cmdlet.

Note: The process for installing service packs and hotfixes on Windows Server 2012 differs from the process in earlier versions. In Windows Server 2012, you can use the Cluster-Aware Updating (CAU) feature. CAU automates the software-updating process on clustered servers while maintaining availability.
