NEW QUESTION: 3

Which identifies both the source and destination location?

- A. URL
- B. ports
- C. IP address
- D. MAC address

Answer: C

Explanation:

The IP Address is used to uniquely identify the desired host we need to contact. This information is not shown in the above packet because it exists in the IP header section located right above the TCP header we are analysing. If we were to expand the IP header, we would (certainly) find the source and destination IP Address fields in there.
