- A. Option D
- B. Option B
- C. Option C
- D. Option A

Answer: C

Explanation:

First, the question asks what switch services the printers, so it can be Switch 3 or Switch 4 which is connected directly to the Printers. Designated port is a port that is in the forwarding state. All ports of the root bridge are designated ports. Switch 3 and Switch 4 has same priority so it will see on lowest MAC address and here switch 3 has lowest MAC address. So switch 3 segment will play a Designated port role. By comparing the MAC address of Switch 3 and Switch 4 we found that the MAC of Switch 3 is smaller. Therefore the interface connected to the Printers of Switch 3 will become designated interface and the interface of Switch 4 will be blocked.

You need to minimize the time it takes to identify queries that return confidential information as defined by the company's

NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point.

- B. resource tags for databases that contain confidential information
- C. audit logs sent to a Log Analytics workspace
- D. sensitivity-classification labels applied to columns that contain confidential information

Answer: C,D

Explanation:

A: You can classify columns manually, as an alternative or in addition to the recommendation-based classification:

Select Add classification in the top menu of the pane.

In the context window that opens, select the schema, table, and column that you want to classify, and the information type and sensitivity label.

Select Add classification at the bottom of the context window.

C: An important aspect of the information-protection paradigm is the ability to monitor access to sensitive data. Azure SQL Auditing has been enhanced to include a new field in the audit log called `data_sensitivity_information`. This field logs the sensitivity classifications (labels) of the data that was returned by a query. Here's an example:
